Our Learning Journey

In English this week the children have had the opportunity to re-tell the story of Charlie's Superhero Underpants using props. We had a learning conversation about how we re-tell a story and that it is important we include the key events. The children have also drawn a story map in preparation for writing a re-count next week.

In Maths we looked at the part whole model; splitting numbers into different parts. This led into our learning around addition towards the end of the week. I have been very impressed with how the children's resilience has developed when learning independently during our maths sessions.

In our Enquiry learning next week we will be continuing to develop our piece of art work inspired by Roy Lichtenstein. The children will be taking great care painting these to share with you at our celebration of learning. The date of this will be confirmed next week.

Focus on Phonics

I have sent home the dictation sentence this Friday based on some feedback fed to me via our Class Rep. This will act as a trial period to monitor the impact of the change on the children's learning. Please come and see me if you have any feedback regarding the dictation sentence. Thank you :)

Home Learning

Just a reminder that home learning can be completed at any point during our Enquiry Question. There really is no pressure for this to be anything elaborate. It can be something as simple as a learning conversation with your child.
